Museum bandwagon starts to roll again

by GLORIA DAVIS

Although plans for the renovation of the old Antioch Grade School on Main St. into a local historical museum, met with much enthusiasm late last summer and seem to have been in a holding pattern for a few months, the projects' captains, Bill Brook and Jim Fields have shifted into high gear again.

There will be a meeting concerning the renovation plans at 7 p.m., on Tuesday, Feb. 9, in the Ernest Brook Memorial Room at the State Bank of Antioch.

All interested and community minded residents are urged to attend to have any questions answered and also to give input to the plans.

Brook said that it will also be an organizational meeting for the Antioch Historical Society which has been on the inactive list for awhile.

Robert Dunn who has been involved in the renovation of the old building in Libertyville that is now its historical museum, will be there to answer questions on what is involved in a project of this type and to give the local group the benefit of his experience.

One of the first orders of business, suggests Brook, will probably be to develop a cost program. Brook adds that he and the rest of the historical society hope to see representatives from all the local community organizations in attendance.

The plan is to have these groups be the cornerstone of the fund-raising end of the project.

According to Brook, he has already been contacted by many citizens who are willing to give monetary donations, some sizeable, towards preserving the history of not only the village, but much of the area surrounding the village and township.

The banking executive also reported that over the years many people have voiced a willingness to donate historical artifacts to such a museum.

Another of the first steps to be taken is to have the school declared a historical site, fulfilling that requirement if there is any funding available for the renovation of historical sites.

Brooks talked about the microfilming of the Antioch News whose issues have recorded the weekly history of the area for many decades.

"Time is an important factor," he said, voicing a fear that the broader the time element until Antioch has a place to house it's history, the greater the chance of losing much of it.

Senior housing program grows

by GLORIA DAVIS

The search for a site for the proposed 25 unit senior citizen housing project has narrowed down and is coming into the home stretch.

According to Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft, one of the best bets, now being looked at by the Lake County Housing Authority, is an acre-sized plot of land owned by Dr. John Borini and located behind the Heritage Building, near the Old Saw Mill, east of Rte. 83.

The mayor also had some surprise news via a letter he received on Friday, Jan. 15. The letter informed him that there is a tentative, but very good possibility that there might also be still another, larger, senior housing facility in the works for the village in the not to distant future.

The target date for the completion of the 25 unit project is in 1983.

"There will be more data on the other complex as soon as plans for it mature a little more," the mayor promised.

Drug probe confirmed, indictments expected

Lake County Sheriff Tom Brown has confirmed that his department is cooperating with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) and the FBI among other agencies in an effort to break up an alleged multi-million dollar drug ring operation in Lake County.

According to one report, attributed to an unnamed source, William and John Haley of Antioch are among targets in the investigation.

Brown refused to confirm that the Haleys, or anyone else, were targets of the investigation which is expected to result in over a dozen arrests when completed.

When William Haley, 39, was released after being held on charges of smuggling over $3 million worth of marijuana and methaqualone pills in Puerto Rico in 1980, a U.S. official, when asked why Haley was released told a reporter, "He can still be brought back on the same charge."

Bowl for autistic

The Antioch Jaycees will sponsor its third annual bowling for autistic children from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 7, at the Antioch Bowl.

Bowlers are to contact sponsors to pledge a per-pin amount. Three games will be bowled on the above date.

For more information about autism or the benefit bowling, contact Mary Schaub, project chairman, (312) 395-8796.

Restaurant annexation progressing

The first step towards the annexation of the Country House Restaurant on Rte. 173 to the village of Antioch has been taken with the proposal receiving the approval of the Antioch Planning Commission.

The planning commission gave their okay to a five point preannexation agreement negotiated with the restaurant's owner, Bob Koster, denying Koster's request to use the restaurant's existing well instead of hooking-up to the village water system.

In approving Koster's request, Antioch Planning Commission Chairman Wayne Salonen said that the village would realize appreciable sales and property tax revenues from the annexation of the Koster property.

The next step is for the proposal to come before the Antioch Zoning Board. A date for this hearing has not been set.

If the annexation receives the go-ahead from that board, the village board will hold a public hearing on the matter and then act on those recommendations.

Local bank promotes two

Andrew B. Bernhardt, president of the State Bank of Antioch, announced on behalf of the board of directors, the promotions of Marcia Fox to assistant vice president, and Wally Jaszowski to assistant vice president.

Fox has been a member of the State Bank staff for 12 years, spending most of those years in the installment loan department. In August of 1978 she was promoted to assistant cashier, and in July of 1980, assumed the responsibilities of personnel and training officer.

In March of 1981, Fox was promoted to the position of officer and director of operations, which added to her duties in the personnel area the supervision of the bookkeeping and computer departments of the bank. She is a graduate of Antioch Community High School and has completed the required courses offered by the American Institute of Banking to receive the Basic Certificate in the Foundations of Banking. She is a member of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, a current member of the National Assn. of Bank Women, and for the past six years, has managed and played with the State Bank of Antioch women's 16 inch softball team.

Jaszowski was employed by the State Bank in Dec., 1974 as collection manager. He assumed the supervisory functions of loan manager in 1976 and the duties of loan officer in Jan., 1977. In August of 1977, he was promoted to assistant cashier, and in April, 1981, he was made head of the installment loan department.

Jaszowski graduated from Weber High School in Chicago in 1962 and entered the U.S. Air Force as a medic in the Strategic Air Command.

After his release from service in 1966, he was employed by Liberty Loan as a branch manager, reorganizing five separate offices until 1974, when he joined the State Bank. He has taken several courses offered by the American Institute of Banking, and in Feb., 1978, he graduated from the National Installment Credit School at the University of Oklahoma. He was active for many years in the Antioch Jaycees and served as vice president, secretary/treasurer, and public relations director.

He then added that it was a very expensive proposition for the government to extradite and prosecute a lot of drug-involved suspects separately and that it would be more feasible to net them all in at once.

Haley claims that he was released because the person that was responsible for dropping the drugs from a plane, at the same time that he flew a plane into that area's airport, had been caught.

The U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) out of Puerto Rico says that Jeffrey Berry, San Dimas, Cal., was arrested along with Haley and charges against him are still pending. That agency was not able to tell us if Berry and Haley were together at the time or if Haley had been completely vindicated.

In the latter months of 1981, the DEA in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. and its sister agency in Milwaukee, Wis. smashed another area multi-million dollar drug ring, responsible for the importation of the bulk of the marijuana brought into this country in the late 1970s.

Herman Holbek, formerly of Antioch and William Wessinger, Bristol, were rated number three and four in importance on the list of the many people arrested and jailed as a result of this investigation.

Because of a loose family tie between Holbek, and Haley, the geographics and the similarity of the charges, U. S. District Attorney Lurana Snow was asked if the Haley name had ever come up during that investigation.

After a two year investigation that involved a myriad of people, uncovered several witnesses and resulted in the heavy drug charges against 19 people, Snow, without one moment for recall answered tersely, "No!"

According to Brown, the present Lake County drug investigation is centered on the entire Chain O' Lakes area, allegedly involving many local businessmen, some who invested their money in the operation, not caring how the money was used, only being interested in making a profit.

Although Brown claims that this is mainly a federal investigation, the Haley camp says that Brown is after the Haley family, strong in the county Republican Party, because they are backing his opponent in the upcoming sheriff's race, Robert (Mickey) Babcox.

Yet there were at least two times this past year that the Haley "fortunes" were in the hands of the sheriff's department and the decision went in their favor, once when it gave them their okay for the country concert, held near I-94 in the northeastern end of the county last fall and the other when they held off when Clem Haley wrote that department an NFS check. The sheriff's department waited three months to arrest him and almost immediately dropped deceptive practice charges after the check was made good.

According to Brown, indictments against many locals are in the offing in the very near future.

When Antioch police Chief Chuck Miller was asked what he knew about such a large drug ring possibly based in his town, he answered that he knew nothing about the particular case in point.

"We often get information on such traffic and pass it on to the federal boys who are equipped to handle that kind of thing. We are a small-town police force that is equipped to make arrests on the street level and we do," he said.

Meanwhile the alleged investigation continues to be the top point of street conversation from Antioch, through-out Lake County and all the way into the city of Chicago, with a multitude of interested parties waiting for the next installment.

Bernhardt to head Boy Scout campaign

ANDY BERNHARDT

Robert Sherman, Lake District chairman of the Northeast Illinois Council of Boy Scouts of America announced that Andy Bernhardt, president of the State Bank of Antioch, will be the chairman of the 1982 sustaining membership enrollment (SME) campaign for the Lakes District.

The SME campaign is the major fund raising effort by the Boy Scouts in addition to the United Way contributions. Funds raised through SME provide training, administration services, camps and camping, and special activities for all levels of Scouting. Contributions to SME insure the continuation of services to the youth of this area.

SME provides a means for enlisting the financial support of adults who have specific interest in the services of Scouting in the northwest portion of Lake County which comprises the Lakes District. In February, many people in Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Grayslake, Round Lake, Fox Lake, Ingleside, Wauconda, and Island Lake will join in the SME campaign.

Lackie arraignment Jan. 21

According to Lake County State's Attorney John Skully, Great Lakes sailor Rodney Lackie, 19, will be arraigned in front of a Lake County Court on Thursday, Jan. 21.

Trial is expected to be set for a date early in February. Witnesses have reported that on June 21, a car driven by Lackie, ran a red light at the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 83 and crashed into a car that was eastbound on Rte. 173, driven by Ken Meyers, 18, Glencoe, killing his two passengers, Ann Brierly, Glencoe and Lilach Shazar, 17, Wilmette.

The sailor has been charged with two counts of wreckless homicide, a minor's possession of alcohol, driving while intoxicated and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

STAMP CLUB

Antioch Parks and Recreation is starting a Ben Franklin stamp club, in cooperation with the post office. This is for fourth grade students and up, to introduce them to the educational hobby of stamp collecting. Anyone interested, please contact the parks office between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday and Saturdays, 9 a.m. til noon at (312) 395-2160.

Aiani named AARP asst. state director

Cyril F. Brickfield, executive director of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) of Washington, D.C. announces the reappointment of Esther Aiani of Antioch, as assistant state director for another term from Jan. 1, 1982 to December 31, 1982.

Her on-the-job training as a volunteer entails her valuable services as coordinator of 11 Northeastern Illinois Chapters. Aiani provides guidance and information to assist these chapters in all facets of the organization.

Her assignments include conducting workshops, installing officers and keeping abreast of legislation by attending local, state and national conferences.

The (AARP), an educational organization, was founded on the belief that creative energy is ageless. AARP has an ever expanding scope of programs, where it is essential to communicate effectively with all members.

AARP is a large and dynamic organization, where corresponding with members, be being well informed, is a procedure that is greatly appreciated.

A great deal of satisfaction is realized in light of the tremendous service that is provided by dedicated men and women who utilize their retirement years for the betterment of humanity, by going forward to meet the challenge of the future.

For further information of (AARP) contact the assis-nt state director, Aiani, at P.O. Box 180, Antioch, Ill. 60002.

The Time Machine

When I think about it

'It's not the way you play the game!'

by GLORIA DAVIS

There are hundreds of thousands of contests run every year and I've probably entered every one of them at one time or another, an inveterate bidder on the great "American Dream Jackpot."

Like most contest buffs, even the tiniest pot of gold at the end of the sweepstakes rainbow still eludes me. Now I can handle constantly losing, at least I'm consistent.

Maybe that purple Masarati and the trip to Tahiti for three will never be mine, but the thing that really gets to me is that I probably could have bought that sports car and those plane tickets with the money these contests have cost me over the years.

I remember my first try for the winners circle, I was just barely seven years old when the local newspaper ran a coloring contest offering a bike as first prize. Young as I was, I decided to make up for my lack of artistic talent with sheer volume.

After a lot of kicking and screaming, punctuated with a little breath holding, my parents bought every copy of the paper on the local newsstand and hit all the neighbors for their copies before garbage wrapping time.

I must have used a gross of crayons and my mother still says all my optometric bills are a result of six full days of trying to stay inside the lines.

As I remember it, there were four other prizes besides the bicycle and out of 125 entries I swear 120 of those were mine. After wearing my coloring fingers down to the knuckles, I proudly took home a fifth consolation prize that was a free subscription to the newspaper, a triumph only slightly clouded by the fact it was a free mail delivered paper. For I learned that I was capable of being a prize winner, no matter how small the prize.

Then came the jingle contests, precipitating the purchase of hundreds of useless items in order to get the labels necessary for entry.

Never having seen what a winning jingle consists of, I'd really like to know what it takes to win one of these. I've always had the feeling that the entries were treated like a sweepstakes, with the judges pulling the winners at random, ignoring the individual rhymes. How else could so many of my outstanding poetic efforts have been ignored?

When I was a teenager I won $100 in a confessions magazine short story contest but the magazine wanted $125 for editing and typing of the manuscript in preparation for publication. Even after I added the $25 to my winnings, I couldn't let anyone know that I was now a published author, since young ladies that attended parochial academies in the 50's weren't supposed to read "that trash," now less objectionable than the average family movie.

And I know that Mrs. Joan Smith of east Tuscaloosa, is supposed to have won a $200,000 house in last year's contest from one of the publishing clearing houses, but have you ever met anyone who knows one of these winners personally?

I guess they have to legitimate, and maybe I've become a cynical loser! I suppose my feelings are caused by all those dumb magazines that jam my mailbox because I never quite believe that they throw the non-subscribers into the same pot as those that buy magazines. How else do these companies make the money to pay for all those costly prizes if every entrant gets a free ride?

Like the Las Vegas slot machine player who refuses to leave the machine that has eaten up the bulk of their gambling money because it's due, I can't stop now because the law of averages says that my winning time is high. Anyone know of a new contest I haven't heard about?

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Although reports have the temperatures these past two weekends the coldest on record, I guess it depends on who's keeping the records.

Art Wertz, who has been in the Antioch area all of his 74 years, called to tell me that it has been colder here.

According to Art, the temperature dropped to 32 degrees below zero on Jan. 17, 1935. Art was busy plowing snow then.

"We were busy ploughing 18 hours a day all over the county," he said.

I think that was the year that even old Annie Mae's eyelids turned blue and I wasn't even wearing eye shadow!

RON, TERRY KLACZAK

There's still nothing like family cooperation to help a business get ahead!

Congrats to Ron Klaczak, owner of Porcelaincote Unlimited here in Antioch, who was named 1981 dealer of the year at a special awards dinner, held at the Hyatt Hotel, Cherry Hill, New Jersey last month.

I hear his lovely wife Terry also received the first place team award for her work behind the scenes, helping to build their business.

This frigid weather has ruined so many plans but here's one event that still will take place.

Mary Polly tells me that the farewell dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Gokey and their son Brian has been changed to a special coffee hour to held at the United Methodist Church, following the 10:30 a.m. service, on Sunday, Jan. 24.

Last week, the main topic of conversation in all the local places of congregation, was the news story on the possibility of a large dope ring centered in our area.

The consensus of most residents is concern and upsettiness. All are hoping to hear disapproval and are anxiously waiting to hear the next developments.

Are your slacks splitting at the seams from all that hot chocolate and popcorn, so cozy during these icy evenings?

Well old Annie Mae has decided to do something before she has a real coming-out party and I'm putting myself in the capable hands of that slim (I hate her!) Kathy Morissy, who is the new dancersize and aerobic dance instructor for the parks department.

See you either on Tuesday or Friday mornings, from 10 to 11 a.m., or on those same evenings, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Call Glenda or Dee at the parks department for more information.

Another Antiochan in Uncle Sam's service has completed his basic training. Pvt. James E. Harnisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harnisch, did his grueling stint in Fort Knox, Ky..

FIFTY YEARS AGO: JANUARY 14, 1932

John S. Clark, superintendent of city schools, Waukegan, announced the reduction in the assessed evaluation of the school district which indicated a $60,000 loss in the city school's income for the year. Financial relief was hoped for from the legislature.

Mrs. L. Lasco and Miss Ruth Williams hosted their individual bridge parties and Will Runyard and Fred Peterson attended the Odd fellows meeting on Monday night.

Reports of the affairs of both of Antioch's banks say that they are both in good sound condition despite the depressed condition of business.

St. Peter parish to hold blood drive

St. Peter's Parish will hold its 10th annual blood donor drive on Saturday, Jan. 30, at the church, 557 W. Lake Ave., Antioch.

If you are concerned for humanity and the needs of others, this is an opportunity to do something positive.

The donation of less than one hour of time and one pint of blood can enable interested persons to help several recipients, as well as themselves, should the need arise. Each pint donated can be separated into red cells, platelets and cryoprecipitate for specialized treatment. The remaining plasma can be utilized for important blood medicines.

Major heart surgery and medical treatments place heavy additional demands on available supplies.

For persons who are interested in, and committed to the concept of a blood program, but are unable to donate, they are most welcome to volunteer to assist with the work on the blood collection operation.

Please give this vital gift of one pint of blood or some of personal time. Volunteers may call Mrs. Ellen Ipsen at (312) 395-2884 or Mrs. Ricky Apostol at (312) 395-5472.

Mayor to appoint landfill committee

The controversial 70 acre landfill proposal, that Waste Management is asking the village

Negotiate White Hen hatching

by GLORIA DAVIS

The accessibility of a 24 hour convient food mart may soon belong to Antioch residents, if the plans for a White Hen Pantry to locate in part of the building formerly occupied by Candelight Galleries on the northeast corner of the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 59 proceed as smoothly as did the meeting between their representative and the Antioch Village Board.

The board reacted favorably to the request of Steve Hrbek, real estate representative for the convenient mart, a subsidiary of Jewel Foods, that the village ammend its ordinance limiting the issuance of packaged beer licenses to one for every 1200 residents.

Presently all the packaged beer licenses allowed in the village by ordinance are out. Hrbek said that White Hen would not find it financially feasible to locate in the area without the license.

Hrbek agreed to the board's stipulation that the license, if issued, would have to be held by an Antioch resident who was employed at that business.

Trustee Edgar Simonsen said, "I don't like changing ordinances everytime someone comes in here asking for something," but the main consensus of the board was that the ordinance could be ammended in light of the employment and additional revenue the mart would bring to the village.

Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz said that the change could be made by lowering the population stipulation. Trustee Claudette Skvarce, besides being interested in the additional employment and revenue asked if local contractors would be able to bid on the remodeling planned for the site.

Hrbek said that he would expect that local builders would be able to bid on the remodeling job as well as any others who cared to do so.

Trustee William Seemann checked to see if Hrbek was aware of the local sign ordinance, closing the door before the cow left the barn, so to speak, to ward-off problems like those that have arisen previously as in the case of McDonalds.

Mayor Ray Toft told Hrbek to get the lease finalized and then the board would take action on ammending the ordinance.

of Antioch to annex, is still in the preliminary stages.

Mayor Ray Toft is non-committal on the proposal.

"I think all the board members should keep an open mind until we see exactly what Waste Management is proposing," he said.

While saying that few people are really in favor of a garbage dump, he added, "If we have to deal with anybody on this kind of a thing, Waste Management is the Cadillac of the disposal companies."

Toft says that he has had no complaints about the present landfill site except from those residents of Little Silver Lake who live right on top of it.

The mayor will appoint a seven-man committee to study the condition of the present site and the proposal when it is received, at the regular village board meeting on Monday, Jan. 18.

The committee will be made up of some board members and other residents.

The mayor said that the nearness of the present site has been very "handy" for the village and also served to save local disposal costs.

He added that he did not know how the entire county board felt about the proposed landfill or whether the county would approve it if the village refused it, although he had heard that local county board members, including Jim Fields, were opposed to it.

Chamber Dance Jan. 30

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will hold its annual installation dinner/dance on Saturday, Jan. 30, at the Tower Room, located above the Antioch Bowl, in Antioch.

Cocktail hour will begin at 6 p.m., with the dinner beginning promptly at 7 p.m., according to Dixie Sparks, executive secretary for the Chamber.

The dinner will be prime rib, and a bottle of champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be at each table. Cost of the meal will be $15 per person.

Ticket deadline is Jan. 26. Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber office on Main St., the State Bank of Antioch, the Antioch Savings and Loan and the First Bank of Antioch.

"Bring your friends and enjoy a night you won't forget," Sparks said.

Lake Zurich edges Antioch, third quarter rally fails

The Lake Zurich Bears edged the Antioch Sequoit cagers, 53-51, in Friday's, Jan. 15, game, played at Lake Zurich.

The Bears outscored the Sequoits in three out of the four quarters, Antioch outshooting Lake Zurich, 18-12 in the third quarter.

The Bears were out front by five at the half but the Sequoits came back to end the third quarter one point ahead.

The three points that Lake Zurich gained over Antioch during the final quarter, outpointing them 16-13, told the end result.

Bob Gatti and Tom Anderson, lead the Sequoit scoring with 13 points apiece. Steve Sheedlo sank five for 10 and Brad Herbst went down for nine.

The Sequoits are scheduled to face the Grant Bulldogs on Friday, Jan. 22, at Grant.

The game scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 16 was called off because of the weather. It will be played against Woodstock at Antioch, on Saturday, Jan. 23.

The sophomore game will start at 6 p.m. and the varsity is slated to play at 8 p.m..

Dugenske delegate

Congratulations are in order for John Dugenske who will be Antioch High School's delegate to the Hugh O'Brian Youth Seminar in Illinois. Marie Mathis was chosen as runner-up.

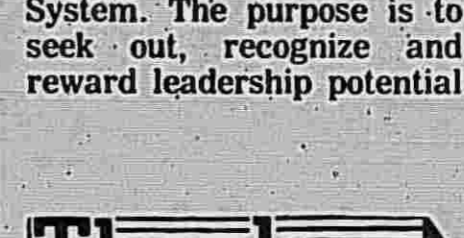

Each year, the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation provides seminars at the state and national level for high school sophomore delegates. Each high school may designate one sophomore as its delegate to the state seminar.

Two national delegates are then chosen at each state seminar to represent their states at the week-long national seminar during the summer.

The Jerry Rockow Family wishes to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings, masses and gifts of food received from our kind friends, neighbors and relatives during the recent loss of our beloved husband, father, brother and friend. INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. R. A. Sona, OPTOMETRIST

CARING FOR CONTACTS

If you're wearing contact lenses, they'll need special care. Contact lenses should be kept clean and free of germs. When you go to bed or swim, remove your contacts first. Avoid irritating vapors and substances that could have an adverse effect on the lens. On the list of "no-no's" are such things as cosmetics, lotions, soaps, creams, and hair sprays. Don't let your contacts come in contact with them.

Both contacts and glasses should fit properly to do you the most good and provide the most comfort. This is especially important with contacts, which rest directly on your eyes.

Maybe you should have them checked. Many people have their eyes checked once a year, whether they're aware of a problem or not. Your eyes change gradually, and even a slight improvement in correcting your vision can make a big difference. So does the comfort of your contacts. If you're not sure you have a good fit or are seeing as well as you should, now's a good time to make sure.

Andre's 'Itch'

Cast outshines play

by GLORIA DAVIS

The current production of "The Seven Year Itch," on the menu at Andre's Dinner Theater in Richmond for the next couple of weekends, has brought out most of the heavy acting artillery of the American Repertory Systems, serving up a repast whose ingredients are too good for the recipe.

"Itch," George Axelrod's sporadically funny, rather dated vehicle, doesn't really deserve the acting prowess of such local talents as Lyn Kessie, Ann Marie Cina, Michelle Patzke, Tom Hausman, Lillian Allen, Donald Crop and Pam Guardi. A case of the cast being stronger than the play.

Hausman, as the middle-aged man who fantasizes about and finally does stray from the wedded straight and narrow, turns in a weak first act performance which may be the fault of the script and not the actor, but he gets the laugh wheels rolling in the second act. He is at his best during the funny

"remorseful" third act.

Kessie, as his wife, gives a consistently strong performance. The meatiest parts in the play, the "other man" and the German psychiatrist, are most capably handled by Crop and Allen.

One of the play's best scenes is the real appearance of the often fantasized "other man," hilariously played by Crop.

Allen delivers some of the script's best lines with alacrity, though I do think she'd get even more guffaws if her delivery was slower and more distinct.

Guardi is a believable sex-symbol, but then isn't she always? It's getting so her name and that type part are becoming synonymous on local theater programs.

All in all, Andre's consistently fine cuisine and this comedy offering, one that many a middle-aged male might identify with, still makes for one of the nicest evenings out offered in the area.

PM&L asks question, 'Whose Life Is It Anyway?'

Brian Clark's tantalizing "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" will be the next play to be presented at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch.

The opening performance will take place Saturday night, Feb. 13, with subsequent shows scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, Feb. 19, 20, 26 and 27.

There will also be a matinee Sunday afternoon, Feb. 21. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. for the evening performances and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

"Whose Life Is It Anyway?" dramatizes the timely and perplexing question of whether a severely and incurably injured person, in this case a quadriplegic, should be permitted to choose deliberately to die rather than to be kept "alive" indefinitely by hospital technology.

Despite the literally life-and-death nature of its story, the play can be regarded, in some ways, as a comedy. This is largely due to the remarkable wit and clever insight of the patient, Ken Harrison, played in the PM&L production by Philip Jaeger of Zion.

The ethical question on which the play is focused, the right to die versus the obligation to "live," has drawn increasingly widespread attention in our time. This accounts in part for the popularity "Whose Life" has enjoyed in earlier stage productions, one starring Mary Tyler Moore, and for the current movie version featuring Richard Dreyfuss.

The PM&L production is directed by Lou Jones of Round Lake. His cast includes, in addition to Jaeger, Donna O'Donnell of Lake Villa; Ginny Schavfel, Paddock Lake; Priscilla Gwin, Waukegan; Frank Greenwood and Sid Groner, Round Lake; and, from Antioch, Tom Hausman, Nancy Balmes, Peter Thelin, David Carlson, Bruce Stamm, Larry Bersie, and George Blanksten. Many of these performers are well-known to Antioch audiences.

"Whose Life Is It Anyway?" promises to be a major event of the current theater season.

To see this provocative play, remember to call (312) 395-3055 to make your reservations, and to check in at the PM&L box office by 8:15 p.m. on the night, or 2:15 p.m. on the afternoon, you plan to enjoy this unusual show.

"All doors are open to courtesy."

Ask Dr. Sven
by Robert T. Sven B.S.D.D.S.
YOUR DENTIST AND YOUR MEDICAL HISTORY

X-rays are so much a part of dental treatment that it's hard to imagine dentistry without them. But X-rays have been in use less than 90 years; only 50 years ago, many dentists didn't have x-ray machines.

Q.: How do x-rays help us?

A.: Cavities between teeth can be detected while still small; the bone around teeth can be studied to evaluate periodontal disease (pyorrhea); other problems can be detected, including impacted teeth, extra teeth, missing teeth, cysts, tumors, fractures, and metabolic and glandular diseases.

Furthermore, X-rays are used in the course of orthodontic treatment, root canal treatment and oral surgery.

As X-rays have grown in importance in dentistry, improved technology has produced better X-rays with far less exposure to radiation. Today, dental X-rays are safer and more effective than ever before.

Dr. Sven will be happy to answer individual questions about dental problems. Address personal inquiries to his office.

Viet Nam vet memorial in need of donations

Our Vietnam Veterans, deserve to be remembered. They are finally building a memorial in the National Park in Washington for those who served in Vietnam.

It will be built next to the Lincoln Memorial, and all the names of the 57,692 Americans who died there will be inscribed on it.

This takes a lot of money, so the Antioch VFW Post is asking the People in the area to help out.

VFW Post 4551, Antioch, is donating $50 towards the project.

Willing donors can send any amount to Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 37240, Washington, D.C. 20013

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF PROPOSED
CHANGES IN SCHEDULE TO PATRONS OF COM.
MONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY.

Commonwealth Edison Company hereby gives notice to the Public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on January 8, 1982 proposed changes in its rates and charges for electric public utility service in all of the areas in which it provides retail service.

Such changes involve and would effect a general rate increase, providing for estimated increases in charges for the following classes of customers: Residential - 19.5%; Residential Space Heating Customers - 19.5%; Water Heating - 19.5%; Commercial, Industrial and Governmental - 19.5%; Governmental Pumping - 19.5%; Transit Services - 19.4%; Street and Area Lighting - 14.3%.

The proposed charges would increase the bills of a residential customer using 300 kilowatt-hours in any month by $4.73 per month (19.0%) averaged over the year. If the customer used 600 kilowatt-hours a month, the corresponding increase would be $9.47 (19.5%) and if 1,000 kilowatt-hours, $15.76 (19.6%). The increases shown include estimated average 1983 fuel adjustment and revenue taxes but exclude charges for optional light bulb service. The proposed increases may, therefore, vary slightly from the above amounts depending on place of residence and whether the customer has chosen bulb service.

A copy of the proposed changes in schedule may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company.

All parties interested in this matter or who desire further information with respect to these changes may obtain information with respect thereto either directly from this Company or by addressing the Office of the Chief Clerk of the Illinois Commerce Commission, Springfield, Illinois 62706.
